The Greenwich Arts Council presents
KIDS ON THE AVENUE
May 10, 1 to 3 pm
299 Greenwich Avenue

The Greenwich Arts Council's spring celebration of the arts continues with KIDS ON THE AVENUE, Saturday, May 10, in front of the Greenwich Arts Council building at 299 Greenwich Avenue, from 1 to 3 pm.

Join Art to the Avenue artists Yvonne Boogaeerts and Ines Villanueva, and GAC curator Tatiana Mori for collage making, assorted art projects, and a walk-through environmental sculpture, and just imagine what fun is in store for all!

Rounding out the visual arts aspect of KIDS ON THE AVENUE will be theatre games, creative dramatics and improvisations by Karen Hall, creator of Acting Out with Miss Karen. Miss Karen will bring her trunk full of costumes, puppets and props and, together with the participating kids, will bring to life stories and tales.

KIDS ON THE AVENUE is one of the many free events offered by the Greenwich Arts Council during the 11th anniversary of Art to the Avenue.

The Greenwich Arts Council's Art to the Avenue is made possible through the hard work of the Art to the Avenue committee headed by Sonja Blom, and with special thanks to the generous support of People's Bank, Prudential Connecticut Realty, Beam & Barre, Kristin & Francis Casale, NRDC Equity Partners, Delamar Greenwich Harbor, Design Within Reach, Thomas Henkelmann - Homestead Inn, Flow of Art Gallery, Richards of Greenwich, and UBS Financial Services, Inc. We also thank Greenwich Magazine, the Greenwich Post, Le Wine Shop, Village Bagels on the Avenue, Smart Kids' Toys, WSTC Cox Radio, the CT Commission on Culture & Tourism, and especially our long time Art to the Avenue partners, the Greenwich Time.
